Residential

Property Solutions has had diverse experience with the development of residential projects in the Brisbane inner urban area. Unlike many other developers, we do not have a typical product type that we simply take from one site to the next. Each of our residential developments has been very purposefully designed to suit the respective site and its location.

Many of our residential developments have also been integrated within mixed use developments that have included commercial and lifestyle retail. The most recent example of this is SW1 at Southbank. There were three residential precincts created that also provided a wide diversity of product type, ranging from 1 bedroom apartments to 3 level, 4 bedroom Terrace Houses.

SW1, as with many of our projects, was also the recipient of national design awards including the national UDIA mixed use development award and the national landscape design award.

Our experience in this successful formula of blending the mix uses to complement each other is now being implemented into the CIRCA project, which again incorporates a mix commercial, retail and residential.
